

Cured of Colds and Croup by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

SONS OF GEORGE C. BOWDEN.

Geo. C. Bowden, of Little Rock, Ark., has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in his family for many years, and is seldom without it in the house. He says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has proved a great relief to our boys in their throat and lung troubles. A few doses of it will ward off a threatened attack of croup, and a bad cold is quickly cured by its use. I take pleasure in recommending it." The prompt cures of colds and croup effected by this preparation, the fact that it can always be depended upon, is pleasant to take and contains no opium, chloroform or other objectionable drug, has made it a favorite with the parents of young children. When you have a cough or cold, try it and see for yourself what an excellent medicine it is. Price, 25 cents. Large size, 50 cents.

FORAKER ON INJUNCTIONS.

MARTINS FERRY, O., Jan. 17.—Senator Foraker has given his views on the same propositions regarding court injunctions as were recently propounded, to and discussed by Secretary of War Taft. Senator Foraker says he would favor the enactment of a reasonable law upon which an injunction or temporary restraining order may issue, defining in specific terms the language in which such injunctions or restraining order may be had.

The Senator believes that no restraining order or injunction should be issued until after notice to the defendant and a hearing is held upon the petition, except only in cases of threatened destruction of property, or other wrong for which there may be no adequate remedy at law.

The Senator believes that a final hearing and determination shall be made at the earliest practicable moment after the making of the temporary restraining order.

The Senator would give the defendant a hearing before a jury or before a judge.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The Senate committee on commerce yesterday considered the revenue cutter service personnel bill, which reorganizes the service and increases the pay and rate of some of the higher officers and ordered a favorable report.

TAFT THE FAVORITE.

will not approach such legislation in the fearless, devil-may-care manner which hitherto has characterized it, for the solons are well aware that the financial crisis is by no means passed and that this is no time for radical action unless in the direction of relief. The employer's liability act, just declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, will doubtless be remedied and Senator Knox, who has made a special study of the situation, has introduced a bill which will probably form the base for this legislation. When the Hepburn bill was under consideration in the Senate Mr. Knox proposed that the provisions of the bill should apply "to all common carriers engaged in commerce to which the regulative power of Congress extends under the Constitution of the United States." In his new bill Knox includes the above provisions in connection with the liability of employers.

Another matter of widespread interest, particularly at this time, is the question of preventing inter-state shipments of liquor into States where the sale of the same is prohibited. This has regularly come before Congress for years but heretofore the liquor interests have always been successful in preventing legislation. With the prohibition wave sweeping over the country, however, it looks as though now is a favorable time for such legislation. It does seem that if a State prohibits the sale of liquor within its borders it should be protected against shipments into it from other States, which reap whatever profit there is to its citizens in the manufacture of the liquor and the taxes thereon. It may be doubted, however, if the prohibitionists will gain much by this legislation for it is not to be denied that many persons who cheerfully vote for prohibition do so expecting to have their own liquor shipped to them privately. Should they be deprived of this privilege they are not likely to look with so much favor on prohibition and a reversal of votes may be expected. Whether the defection of this element will be sufficient to change the complexion of the States is problematical but this vote may be expected to cut a large figure should the legislation be enacted.

There is much doing in the Presidential booms. Attention is focused on the fight in Ohio and it is safe to say that Foraker has the sympathy of all candidates except Taft. The other candidates do not take Foraker seriously, believing that with a fight in his State he can command no outside support except perhaps a few Southern votes. Consequently they hope he will win in Ohio as it would be a sad blow to Taft and not endanger their chances. The Cannon boom seems to be a personally conducted excursion in charge of Private Secretary Busbey. Were Uncle Joe a few years younger he would be one of the most formidable of the lot, and although to all appearances he is good for several more terms as Speaker, it would be difficult to convince the people that the occasion demands a man as old as he. He seems to have about as good a chance as anyone in the "field" for it is the "field against the favorite—Taft." The Fairbanks boom is in its usually quietest stage and since Cortelyou announced that he had not declared himself a candidate and Roosevelt that he would not be one, interest has centered on Taft who will command the hearty support of a minority of office holders and a considerable number of others. The Knox movement is beginning to show signs of life, but is not yet sufficiently developed to attract special attention while the Hughes boom has scarcely reached Washington. It is interesting to note the prominent part played by the newspapers and newspaper men in these booms. Mr. Taft's brother, a newspaper man, is ably represented at Columbus and in Washington by newspaper men who see the press is well supplied with matter favorable to the big Secretary. Busbey, who looks after Uncle Joe, was a newspaper man until he became Cannon's secretary, and if anything is printed anywhere in America which is calculated to injure Cannon's chances he is ready with a reply setting the Speaker right. The Knox boom is principally backed by the Pittsburgh papers and several of the Pennsylvania newspaper men in Washington are sitting up nights nursing it. Mr. Fairbanks followed Mr. Cannon's example and selected a newspaper man for his private secretary. The Cortelyou boom has not yet developed to the press-agent stage and this seems to be the matter with the Hughes boom. The Taft boom would probably do better if its newspaper friends would spend more time placing the claims of Mr. Taft before the country than in abusing the other candidates. He is a great man in every respect and entitled to win, if he wins at all, on his merits. Since his return there has been a cess-

tion of abusive tactics and one of the first things he did was to invite First Assistant Postmaster-General Hitchcock, who has been accused of pernicious concealed activity in behalf of Cortelyou, to take charge of his campaign in the South.
